We are proud and excited to bring you an exhibition of works by Olga Geoghegan.

Olga is a technical virtuoso and her beautiful and haunting paintings of people, places and objects reflect her childhood growing up in Soviet-era Ukhta, in the sub-arctic North of Russia, the simple pleasure to be had from nature and the fragility of our modern world.

“Through the vulnerability of colour and form, I wanted to share with you my sense of alarm at the fragility of our world. Our personal human world has greatly changed in recent times with two years of lockdown followed immediately by the most horrific wars. Nevertheless, the harmony of colour and composition still remains.”

Olga Geoghegan, 2024
